

Aaron Tarlue Chea

Computer Science Student · Educator · IT Technician

Monrovia, Liberia

Professional Summary

Senior Computer Science student at Apex University with practical experience in IT support, instruction, and digital systems development. Driven to build solutions that improve education, public services, and youth development in Liberia.

Experience

IT Technician, Ministry of Transport

- Support technical systems and digital operations for government services.

Instructor, Conquerors Academy

- Teach and guide students in academic development and digital literacy.

Education

Senior Student, Apex University - Computer Science & Technology

High School Diploma, Christian Missionary High School

Skills

Software development (school management systems, dashboards)

IT support & technical administration

Educational instruction & curriculum support

Mobile & web app planning

Digital systems for education and government services

Selected Projects

School Management System: Student information, attendance, and grades dashboard.

Government Service Portal: Digital platform for public service operations and citizen access.

Educational Analytics Dashboard: Real-time analytics for student performance and curriculum insights.

Vision

To build impactful digital solutions that improve education systems, public services, and youth development in Liberia.

